With over 20 years combined experience as a barrister and solicitor, David advises and appears for corporate clients and individuals on instruction from top-tier, mid-tier law and small law firms, as well as in-house legal departments. While he maintains a broad practice, David has acquired specialist knowledge and expertise in the areas of commercial law and equity, corporations law, insolvency and bankruptcy, employment law, property law and commissions and inquiries.

His extensive litigation experience extends to appearing at trial and appellate level in various Australian jurisdictions, and before commissions of inquiry (such as ICAC) and statutory tribunals. Complementing his practice as an accomplished advocate, David also appears on behalf of clients at mediations.

David holds a Master of Laws, Bachelor of Laws (with Honours) and Bachelor of Arts (with Honours) from the University of Sydney. Prior to being called to the Bar, he gained considerable experience as a solicitor in the Commercial Litigation Department of top-tier firm Minter Ellison for almost a decade, during which time he acted for clients in complex and high profile matters. Such experience has served to give David a deep understanding as to needs, expectations and preferences of solicitors and their clients. To this end, David is committed to working in partnership with his instructing solicitors to develop the best strategies to achieve optimal legal and commercial results for the client.
